Your calculator will be inspected prior to the start of the examination and will be reset to clear any stored data/settings. Your calculator must remain on your desk in full view throughout the examination. Failure by test centre staff to detect an unauthorised calculator prior to the start of the examination does not imply you are in compliance with the calculator policy.

It is the responsibility of candidates to familiarise themselves with the functioning of their calculator.

Candidates who do not bring their own calculator to an IMC examination will be provided with a Casio fx-83GT Plus (details above). This arrangement is only available until 31st December 2019. After this date, any candidate who does not bring their own calculator to an IMC examination will not be provided with a calculator to use.

We advise candidates to read the short guide when preparing to use the Casio fx-83GT Plus, so that they feel comfortable using it at the test centre during their exam.

It is the responsibility of candidates to familiarise themselves with the functioning of the standard calculator.
